Response to Amendment

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 15-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Izawa in view of Naylor.

Izawa shows a control unit for the headlight system of a vehicle, which includes a movable headlight 13, lamp switch 14, and an electronic control unit (ECU) 8. The ECU receives signals from sensors 9, 10 and 11 monitoring various parameters of the vehicle. As shown in the flow chart in Figure 4, linear vehicle acceleration S8 is used to adjust the positioning of the headlights and as shown in the flow chart of Figure 5, lateral acceleration S13 and S14 are calculated. Izawa does not show the sensors being a metallic sphere surrounded by a liquid within a housing. Naylor teaches that it is known in the art to use a sensor constructed as a metallic sphere 14, within a housing 15 surrounded by a fluid 16. Naylor in Column 1, lines 9-16 identifies using this system for angular position, translation accelerations, velocities and position of a vehicle with relation to inertial space. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art that sensors of Izawa could be the metallic sphere configuration taught by Naylor as both references are directed to using sensors to monitor positioning parameters of vehicles to change a characteristic of vehicles. The locations of the sensors within the sphere are a matter of design choice depending on the conditions being monitored. While applicant has replaced the original claims with Claims 15-28 to obviate the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejection, the prior art rejection has not been overcome nor has Applicant providing any arguments distinguishing the present claims over the cited prior art.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
